On the call prices were 15 to 37 points higher than the previous 15 to 37 points higher than the previous close with Wall Street and a large operator principal buyers. Conditions in the local spot primary markets were reported firm and the amount of coffee afloat from Brazil to the United States is at a very low point, about 280,000 bags and only small stocks throughout the country. Those features helped the bulls jump values at the start, but operators seemed to think the market of the last two days advanced market of the last two days advanced more rapidly than conditions warranted and were disposed to liquidate causing sharp breaks which met stop loss orders from Wall Street on the way down. Final prices were net unchanged to a decline of 30 points.

The decline is believed to have placed the market in a much better technical position. In some quarters it is predicted that near positions will sell at 20 cents and more distant break through 19 cents in the very near future.

BOOSTED IN PRICE

Wholesalers Jack Up Quotations 8 to 12.5 Per Cent. Over Earlier Figures.

Preparations are under way in the wholesale ments clothing market for price advances on rail merchandine ranging from 8 to 1214 per cent. over the quotations named when the fall lines were first figured on by the manufacturers. In making this known yes terday factors in the trade declared that unforeseen labor developments at the woollen, cotton and silk mills, together with pending wage increases in the clothing industry, have made proportionate advances in the prices of apparel tnevitable.

In a number of local wholesale houses, the advances already have become effective. General announcement of the new prices will be made in a week or ten days.

An interesting feature of the situa-

An interesting feature of the situation is that the manufacturers whose salesmen have not yet left for the road consider themselves more fortunate than those whose representatives got an early start, the latter having sold large quantities of merchandise at the old figures.

Many in the trade are looking for interesting developments in cases where orders were taken by manufacturers at the old prices. This merchandise will be produced under the increased cost, it is pointed out, and some wholesalers feel a moral right in asking for an advance from the retailers corresponding with the advance of the market. On the other hand, retailers hold that they have contracted for goods at a stipulated price and that they have every legal right and precedent in their favor in insisting upon having their orders filled at the contract figures.

The present shortage of merchandise in the clothing market has resulted in placing both large and small dealers on the same level so far as special terms or discounts are concerned.

Button Trade Seeks Protection.

Plans for requesting Congress to levy a tariff on buttons were formulated at a meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Button Manufacturers held here yesterday.

Japan is sending vast quantities of merchandise here. It was pointed out that Japan is selling buttons here for what it costs the American manufacturers to put them on cards. It is impossible for the industry to compete with the Japanese and at the same time pay a living wage to its workers.

The local raw silk market continues very strong and prices have gained another 30 to 40 cents since last week, H. L. Gwalter & Co. report. The demand is increasing as prices advance and a very large business has been done during the last couple of days at full rates, not only in spot silk but also for forward delivery extending well into the summer.

The extremely high prices of Japan silks are awakening a more active interest in Canton sorts, which are still attractive, though lay down costs are being considerably increased by the steady upward trend of silver exchange. The same is the case with China steam flatures, which have scored a notable advance during the week.

The Yokohanja market has scored anotable attractive buying for American and European account. Tram stock is over the 1,800 yen mark, Kansai No. 1 being reported at 1,820 yen paid. High grade qualities, both in white and yellow silk, and the steady of the color re quoted at 1,990 yen. The Capton market is more active.

Import Restrictions Removed.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

Washington, May 22.—Wool and cotton, flax and textile raw products have been removed from the list of restricted imports by the French Government, according to cable advices received to-day at the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The decree removing these and many other products, mostly raw materials, goes into effect May 25.

Waist Manufacturers to Meet. The new regulations imposed on shippers by the express companies, the attitude of some retailers in cancelling orders placed with the wholesale trade; a plan for stimulating the sale of waists in retail stores, and the report of the vigitations on retail merchants who exercise wrongful and unfair practices in their dealings with the wholespiers are some of the matters scheduled for liscussion at a mass meeting. are some of the matters scheduled for discussion at a mass meeting of members of the United Waist League of America, to be held in 29 East Thirty-Inc. 168 bers of the United Waist League of America, to be field in 29 East Thirty-second street Monday morning, May 26. It is expected that more than 300 waist manufacturers will be present.

Business Troubles.

Cotton Goods Demand Grows as Prices Rise

DESPITE the fact that prices for cotton goods have been skyrocketing for months, rec-ords for big business are being smashed in various quarters of the market, and it is said there is no indication of a let up in the near future. One centre is reported to have done a business of more than $15,000,000 a business of more than $15,000,000 during the past month. Not only has the domestic trade been large but the call from foreign markets for American cottons has been heavy. Because of the way prices have been advancing recently some factors look for a full of about a month in export trade in the very near future, but it is believed that just as soon as buyers in the foreign markets realize that it will be useless to hope to get goods at lower prices buying activities will be resumed with a greater rush than ever.
